

invios stands for innovative immuno-oncology (IO). We are a privately held biotech company based in Vienna, Austria, developing novel therapies for cancer. The opportunity to make a major impact on patients' lives with our next-generation technologies and personalized treatments keeps us motivated every day. Working at invios, you can help crack some of the toughest challenges in cancer care.

To strengthen our R&D capabilities we are looking for a

Lab Technician (m/f/d) – full time

Main responsibilities:

- Performing molecular biology assays (PCR, qPCR, ELISA, cloning, Western blotting, co-immunoprecipitation, protein purification etc.)
- Cell culture of cell lines and primary immune cells
- Assisting and conducting in vivo studies (mouse handling, compound administration etc.)
- Isolating primary immune cells from human blood and executing various in vitro experiments (stimulation experiments, cytotoxicity assays, drug and cytokine treatments etc.)
- Performing multicolor flow cytometry and data analysis
- Independent planning, implementation, analysis and documentation of experiments

Starting date: as soon as possible

Your profile:

- MTA, BTA, BSc, MSc or equivalent in relevant field (e.g. immunology, molecular biology, biotechnology)
- At least one year practical work experience
- Hands-on laboratory experience with cell culture and flow cytometry
- Personal initiative, can-do attitude and flexibility
- Motivated and ambitious team player with the ability to handle multiple tasks in parallel
- Analytical mind-set and experience with data analysis using Excel, GraphPad Prism and FlowJo
- Willingness to conduct in vivo studies and possession of a FELASA B certificate is a must
- Fluency in English, both spoken and written

What we offer:

- Work in a highly motivated and friendly team
- Excellent scientific atmosphere and state of the art infrastructure
- Opportunities for personal development
- Attractive remuneration according to your qualifications and experience as well as your individual performance
- Flexible working hours

Following Austrian law regulations, we offer, reflecting your experiences, skills and competencies, competitive compensation base salary of EUR 35,000.00 gross/year (based on 38.5 hrs/week) and are willing to pay more based on your experience and background.

If you would like to work in a young, dynamic and international environment, want to help shape your own areas of responsibility and grow along with an exciting company, please send your application including your CV and letter of motivation to jobs@invios.com.